10. FUTURE POLICY PLAN

11. NOTICE OF MOTION

- (a) Mansion Tax

To be moved by Councillor Melvyn Caplan and seconded by Councillor Lindsey Hall.

'Westminster City Council and our residents appreciate local property prices have increased substantially over the years. Many residents have lived in their home for decades, many on relatively low fixed incomes and pensions. The majority of these homes would be considered modest in much of the UK.

The notion of a 'Mansion' Tax is misleading, divisive and economically illiterate. Such a tax on ordinary family homes - by default of their location - would hurt Westminster residents who have bought their home with already taxed monies who may no longer have the income to afford such a 'tax bombshell'.

A 'Mansion' Tax on a property takes no account of a person's income and their ability to pay year on year. Property tax is already levied at the point of purchase through Stamp Duty, through Capital Gains on secondary properties and on death through Inheritance Tax.

Such a tax in a fluctuating market could lead to many of our elderly residents and those on fixed incomes being forced out of their homes or families being saddled with major debts. A likely 'capital flight' will impact on our local economy, break up communities and will not raise substantial monies to fund public services.

Councils and many MP's of all political colours across London have major concerns with this ill thought out policy. Westminster City Council resolves to lobby against any 'Mansion Tax' on homes deemed to be worth more than £2m which would impose unrealistic, unworkable and unaffordable property tax burdens on our residents".

(b) Planning Committees

To be moved by Councillor David Boothroyd and seconded by Councillor Ruth Bush:

"This Council agrees to allow the public to speak at the weekly Westminster Planning Committee meetings – in the same way as the public are allowed to speak at practically every other Planning Committee in London and the rest of the UK. This would be a small but significant step forward in the process of restoring public confidence in local democracy in Westminster.

Adopting this simple and straightforward change in the way in which Planning Committee meetings operate will enable those residents most directly affected by planning proposals (and those promoting them) to state their case directly to the Committee members when applications are being determined.

The Council appreciates that, given the high volume of planning applications received by the Council, introducing speaking rights for the public needs careful thought. However, we believe that this can be managed without difficulty as it is in other inner London boroughs and the Council hereby instructs officers to report on how the detail of this can be implemented."
