There is a street musician playing accordion on Queensway who regularly stays and plays next to the Bayswater Tube station everyday, starting from 9 am to even 11:00 pm some days. He is extremely loud and disturbing. The other tenant living in Dukes Court are also irritated with the inappropriate working hours and noisy performance of the person. I believe that sometimes [REDACTED] gets drunk, causing him to play and sing loudly on the street. I am aware that this is a busy street and there are lots of street musicians playing in different locations. However, I have observed that they all leave after 6:00 p.m. except for the subject person. [REDACTED] plays very loudly everyday till late for almost 2 months now. I would like to note that tenants and I have no problem with street musicians who perform in reasonable and appropriate hours, yet this person has been considerably insistent in performing after the others leave.

I will like to report the [redacted] that perform right opposite the [redacted] in Trafalgar Square. These are the ones that play music and do perform dance routines. Earlier today, around 13:15 I walked past them on my way to Charing Cross Station and they were standing around playing very loud music. They were [redacted] I realised that the lyrics were full of obscenities and also racist, homophobic and sexist. The Square was full of tourists, a lot of them families and groups of children. Being a [redacted] I'd that works hard to raise [redacted] in a healthy environment, I don't consider this vocabulary acceptable. I don't see why should children or myself have to hear this kind of music, specially from licenced performers. This kind of music comes with a parental advisory explicit content warning. responsible retail shops would not sell this kind of music to children of certain age. The BBC and any other commercial media outlet is regulated when it comes to this type of language during the day. I deem Westminster Council responsible for this. If you are going to provide licences to street performers to perform, then you are responsible for regulating the nature of their activities and that these are not offensive. Also, on another occasion I have seen this group of performers having a physical fight with other performers in the middle of Trafalgar Square. Can you please update me as to what actions will you take in relation to this matter? Also, how can I escalate this report further? Ahead are my contact details: [redacted]

They polute alt he area by opening all the local street bins to find food and in doing so throw all the waste around. They are extremely anti social causing extreme noise through the night into early morning. As a [redacted] bird street it's hard to sleep at night due to their actions .

Busker complaint 26/10/2015 11:46 Complaint came through via email on 22.10.2015 at 13:11.I wanted to make a complaint about a certain Busker. The busker I would liketo report is compromised of [redacted] who play the steel drums on Hungerfordbridge [redacted].I had this issue the other day [redacted]. I was crossingthe bridge and saw them there. I snapped one picture of them on my camera. Assoon as the one playing saw me [redacted] just started glaring at the camera.Needless to say the picture turned out rubbish so I just walked on(As far asI'm aware of the rules, I'm allowed to make donations, but not obliged togive money to buskers). As soon as I was walking by(they were glaring at methe whole time to make sure I put money in the pot) and they realised Iwasn't going to put any money in the pot, the two of them became veryaggressive towards me and started shouting profanities along the lines of"F*cking prick! Aren't you gonna put some money in then?!" "Don't take af*cking picture then you c*nt!" They were very aggressive and I was scaredthat they might actually beat me up, so I just ignored it and and walkedaway. I definitely did not provoke them in any way, all I did was walk awaywhen they were demanding I pay up for taking a photo.
